KAYLEAH WILSON - SEARCH TIPS / FAQ

HOW CAN YOU HELP?

Many people have asked how they can help in the search for missing Kayleah Wilson. Here are some simple things you can do as a property owner or landlord, or concerned citizen.

Please check and look along road sides, back roads, fields, dump areas that we all may know about in the county or in the towns or areas you drive to, or live near. These may be areas that you routinely drive, walk, run, jog, etc. Check any ditches or areas that are typically hard to see when driving by at high speeds. Other potential areas to check are under bridges, abandoned barns or structures that are not normally occupied, abandoned vehicles, etc.

If you notice a suspicious odor in an area, or see activities in or around abandoned homes or property, if you happen to see circling birds or gathering predators, like coyotes in or around an area, check it out if it is safe, or contact the local law enforcement agency near you to have it checked out.

If you own property that is not currently occupied check it out to make sure it is still secure and everything in side is in order and as you expect it to be. If you know your neighbor is not home and you have permission to go on their property check for any broken windows, doors, or suspicious activity or things that may appear out of place to you.

If you live in a rural area and know your neighbors are gone for extended periods of time drive by those areas and make note of any unusual cars, vehicles, or things that appear out of place and are not consistent with what you are familiar with.

If you live near an empty home or building watch for any suspicious activity or unusual people or vehicles in or around the structure that are not normally there.

Do NOT go in any buildings or homes you do not own or trespass on private property to search any areas.

If you see or suspect anything suspicious do not attempt to pick it up, touch it, or contaminate the immediate surrounding areas. If you leave the area before authorities arrive try to leave the same way you came in so other potential items are not disturbed or contaminated.

If a suspicious incident is in progress and you are concerned for public safety always call 911.

If the situation is not an emergency call the Greeley Police Department at 970-350-9600 or the FBI at 800-CALL-FBI.
